There came a hero named HouYi,

who shot down 9 suns and saved the nation.

He then became king, and the gods gave him a present: two magic immortal pills.

No Leo, it is a cultural festival for Asian countries, especially China and Vietnam.
Oh, tell me more about it!

This is how our author Bonnie celebrate Mid Autumn Festival in Hong Kong.
What other traditions do you know about Mid Autumn Festival?

The national animal of Norway is the white-throated dipper! In Norwegian it's called "Fossekall" or "fossekallen", which means "the man of the waterfall"

Readers from Norway!

come back !!

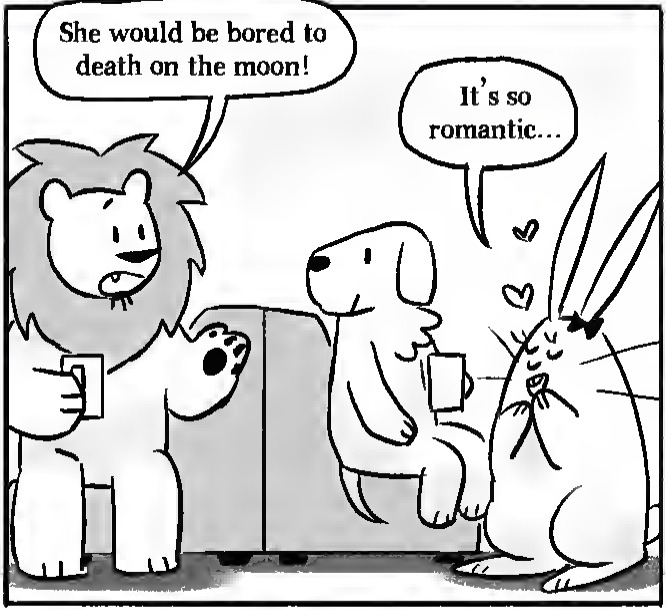
The Mid Autumn Festival involves a wide range of traditional activities, but many of them are forgotten today.
Yes, nowadays people mainly just gather with friends and family and exchange gifts.



She would be bored to death on the moon!
It's so romantic...

Mid Autumn Festival? Mooncake? What is that?
How about early autumn and late autumn?
Are there any Suncakes?

New lanterns are powered by batteries and come in all kinds of designs.

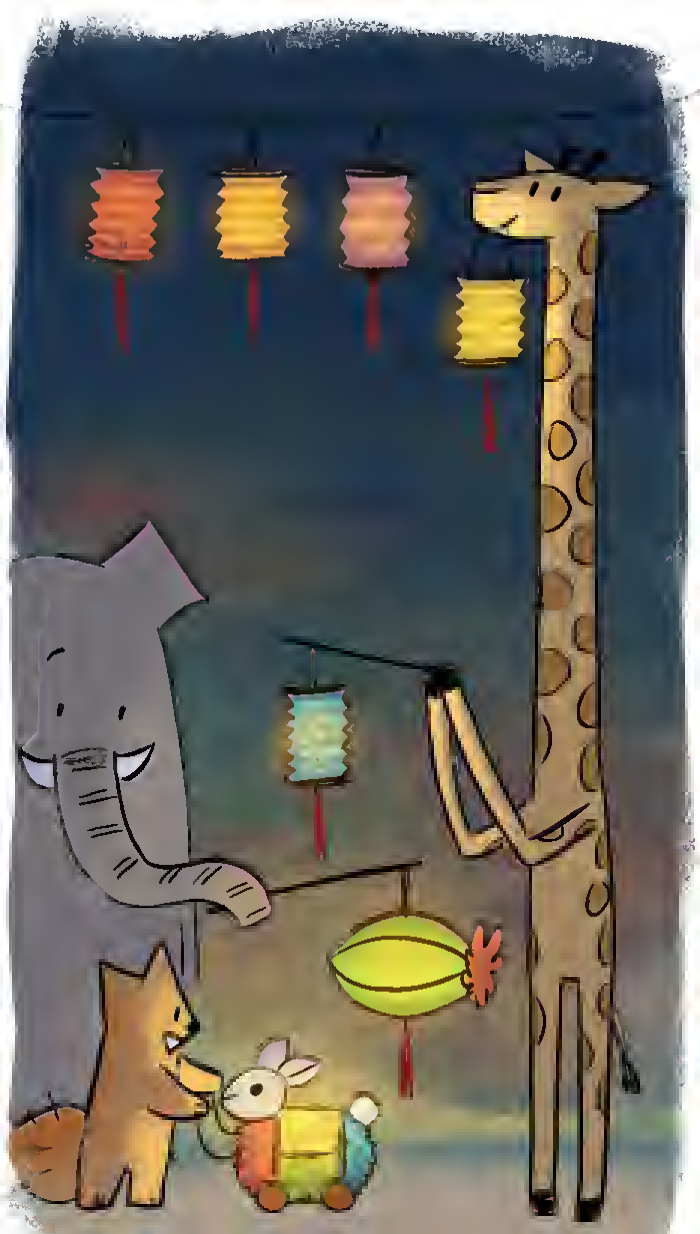
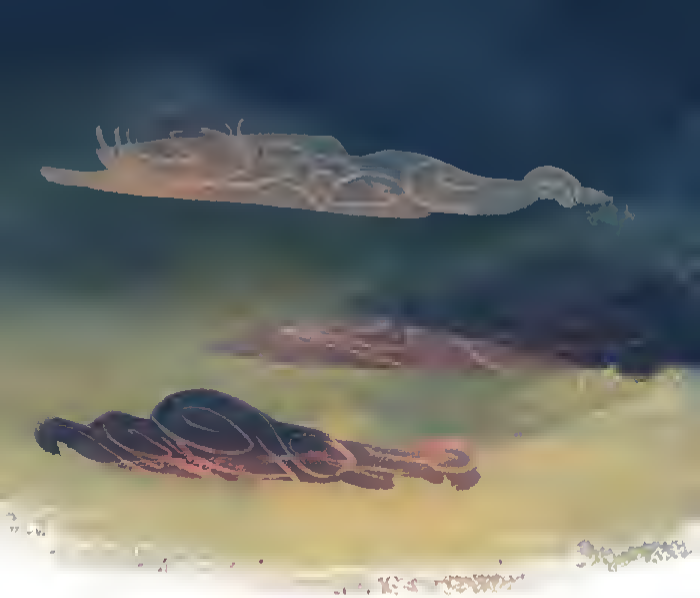
Most young generation now prefer neon sticks,

but they generate a lot of plastic waste every year.





In ancient times, there was once when 10 suns rose in the sky, causing great disaster to the villagers.

I still prefer the old fashioned lanterns.
The candle light is so pretty!

Alright, let's try the festival foods next week!
And teach us how to make mooncakes, Tiffany!
Yay!

It's almost time for Mid Autumn Festival! Are we organizing any special activities?
Thanks!

Yes, yes! I want to have a mooncake workshop!

The national animal of Norway is the Moose,

and the national bird is the White-throated Dipper!

Mid Autumn Festival

However, HouYi did not become a good king and he treated his people poorly.

He wanted to live forever as a king,

so he asked his wife, ChangE, for the immortal pills.

Traditional lanterns are made of paper,

shaped like cylinders, fruits and rabbits.

ChangE didn't want HouYi to hurt their people,

so she sacrificed herself and swallowed the two pills.

Her body became so light that she floated to the moon,

and lived there forever with a woodcutter and a rabbit.

Thank you for saving the day.

Cheetah-B is right. The Mid Autumn Festival carries many meanings, including the celebration of harvest, thanksgiving and gathering of family and friends.
In fact, there is a Chinese legend behind the Mid Autumn Festival.

After that, people celebrated ChangE by making food offerings to the moon.
